What we have been doing this term:

We have squeezed such a lot in to our first term of 2024.

Thinking about colours and how they can link to our emotions, we have been reading 'My Many Coloured Days' by Dr Seuss and included sensory elements such as chocolate spread, drizzled honey, jelly baff and orange balls, noisily spun in a metal bowl.

We've enjoyed dancing to songs about colour in Movement to Music and have done some wonderful tracking to strengthen our eye muscles in Focus group to various lit-up, colourful items in our dark sensory room.

We have thoroughly enjoyed being visited by the immersive 'Make Sense Theatre' and look forward to ongoing weekly sessions with them.

Our eldest pupil has been joining her peers in Windsor class to be their shop keeper during snack times and the others have started visiting the library to choose stories to be read to them with their 1:1 - Shelby has even had a go at writing her own stories about her friends using her VOCA and printed words!

In art, we have thought about how we feel and painted our images to match colours to our emotion using squeegees and we have explored some wonderfully messy sensory art for valentines and Chinese new year.

Some photos of us!
